

CELEBRATING CONCEPT-BASED LEARNING

Project Day in progress

Utpal Shanghvi Global School (USGS) and PPS International Junior College organised a project day September 16 within their school premises.

Abha Dharam Pal, CEO of USGS, says, "We would like to thank Jayesh P Choksi's innovative vision and the entire management of JPES, for providing fantastic infrastructure for the event."

The mysteries of science, beauty of math, language and stories, tourism, health and nutrition, yoga, sports and many more were explained skilfully by the students through presentations, performances and creating products that meaningfully addressed concepts.

On this day, not only children, but also parents stepped up and took part in various vocabulary games, quizzes, tests and also activities in sports like cricket, football, throw ball, arranged by our staff and students.

A book-tasting session was held in the library, where an assortment of books was eagerly explored by the students. UK Day was celebrated and beautifully showcased by the early year students. These tiny tots marched confidently, showing the Exchange of Guards Ceremony, which takes place outside the Buckingham Palace in London. A Level students engaged the audience in various psychometric tests like hand-writing analysis, colour personality, emotional intelligence and creativity. Rakhi Mukherjee, Principal USGS, says, "Our motivating staff and enthusiastic students have put up a magnificent show, this year. We have received an excellent feedback from our parents and guests."
